(11.00 am)

LADY THIRLWALL: Good morning. This is a preliminary hearing in the Inquiry into what happened at the Countess of Chester Hospital between 2015 and 2017 and the implications of those events.

The Inquiry will also investigate further questions of public importance, as set out in the terms of reference. In November 2023, I made a detailed opening statement by video which remains on the Inquiry website. It can still be viewed and there is a transcript of it. I won't repeat what is in it.

The primary purpose of today's hearing is for counsel to the Inquiry, Rachel Langdale, King's Counsel, to provide an account of what the Inquiry team has been doing since my opening statement in November.

The secondary purpose is for me to receive submissions that I've invited on the question of live links and live streaming at the main hearings, which are scheduled to start in September and will run at least until the end of the year. It is at the main hearings that we will hear opening speeches and, in due course, all of the evidence. That's not for today.

Reporting restrictions. I remind you -- all of you know this already -- that there are in place several today's hearing and I won't be dealing with those matters today. Some of them, in fact, have already been dealt with, but the rest will be dealt with in the coming days without the need for oral submissions.

That's all I want to say by way of introduction. Before I invite Ms Langdale to give her update, I will just invite everyone just to pause and to be still just for a few moments' reflection to mark our respect for lives lost, injuries sustained and the enduring suffering of families, and to remind us all of our purpose in this Inquiry. (Pause)

Thank you. Ms Langdale.

MS LANGDALE: My Lady, before I provide an update of the work the Inquiry has done, may I introduce those advocates that will be speaking and making submissions in due course: Mr Peter Skelton, KC, on behalf of parents A, B, I, L, M, N and Q; Mr Louis Browne, King's Counsel, parents D, J and K; Mr Richard Baker, King's Counsel, parents of C, E, F, G, H, O, and P; Mr Andrew Kennedy, King's Counsel, representing the Countess of Chester Hospital; the longest to walk, Mr Jude Bunting, King's Counsel, who represents the media.

Others advocates in the room not intending to make oral submissions on live streaming are: Ms Kate Blackwell, KC, representing former executive board orders of the Crown Court and an order of the Court of Appeal. The Crown Court orders prohibit the publication of material that may identify certain individuals and the Inquiry is bound by those orders, as I've said before, in the same way as all of you as individuals and organisations are bound. None of us must do anything that breaches them and to do so is a criminal offence.

The Court of Appeal order prevents publication of anything to do with the appeal, other than certain specified matters, until the end of the retrial on one count of attempted murder which is listed to start in June of this year. A breach of that order would constitute a contempt of court.

I'm expecting to hear submissions from lawyers representing some of the core participants, including the Families, and from a lawyer representing eight media organisations. I ask for those who wish to make oral submissions on the topic of live streaming or live links to send in written submissions, which they have done and I've read them all. I will consider all those written and oral submissions and give my decision in writing in due course. It will, of course, be uploaded on to the website.

Some of the written submissions deal with a range of different topics which are not on the agenda for members; Mr Jonathan Dixey representing the Department of Health and Social Care; Ms Jenni Richards, King's Counsel, for the Care Quality Commission; Ms Victoria Butler-Cole, King's Counsel, Nursing Midwifery Council; NHS England represented by Mr Jason Beer, King's Counsel; and Ms Fiona Scalding, King's Counsel, representing the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health.

I will outline briefly what the Inquiry has done thus far and what remains to be done. My Lady, on 3 October, you, the solicitor to the Inquiry and I met many of the bereaved families and their solicitors to discuss the draft terms of reference. Parents made powerful and constructive observations about several issues, including the requirement for this Inquiry to investigate why these events happened, whether there were lies told or any cover-up of suspicions or concerns about Letby, the use of CCTV as a deterrent, and the need to avoid others suffering in the future as they have.

As you underlined in your opening statement made on 22 November, my Lady, it is unconscionable that this situation would occur again. That is our guiding principle. As part of the Secretary of State's consultation process, the leaders of the following

1 organisations were invited by the Inquiry to comment
 2 upon the draft terms of reference: the Countess Chester
 3 Hospital, the Nursing & Midwifery Council, the General 4 Medical Council, the Royal College of Paediatrics and 5 Child Health, NHS England, Cheshire and Merseyside
 6 Integrated Care Board, and the Care Quality Commission.
 7 Four responses were received from the NMC, the CQC, 8 NHS England and the Royal College.

9 The terms of reference were set by the Secretary 10 of State after consultation with my Lady. Appended to 11 them are 30 questions. Enabling you to answer those 12 questions is, and will remain, the relentless focus of 13 the Inquiry team's work.

14 It is important at the outset to remember that the 15 Inquiry is working at the same time as other proceedings 16 and investigations are being carried out. There is 17 a retrial on one count of the indictment that will start 18 in June. In the Court of Appeal, there was a hearing of 19 an application for leave to appeal against the 20 convictions earlier this month. Judgment was reserved.
 21 There are continuing Nursing and Midwifery Council 22 proceedings.

23 The landscape is complex. A series of orders have 24 been made by the Crown Court pursuant to sections 45 and 25 46 of the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999

5

1 Health Service Ombudsman; Facere Melius, an organisation
 2 that conducted a review of the hospital; the General
 3 Medical Council; the Countess of Chester Hospital; 4 Health Services Safety Investigations Board; National 5 Guardian's Office, and the Patient Safety Commissioner.
 6 They were all made aware of their disclosure obligations 7 and the relevant material that the Inquiry expects to 8 receive. Nearly all have provided documents within 9 strict timelines.

10 My Lady, as you know well, a public inquiry is not 11 adversarial. Unlike the criminal and civil courts, 12 there are no sides. It is quite unlike litigation. It 13 is an inquisitorial process. It is a search for the 14 truth in connection with all the issues the Inquiry is 15 charged to investigate. Core Participants are those 16 individuals and organisations who you, my Lady, 17 recognise meet the criteria for designation as Core 18 Participants within Rule 5 of the Inquiry Rules 2006 and 19 whom you have decided in the exercise of your discretion 20 should have such status.

21 Those who have been designated as Core 22 Participants and their legal teams are important to the 23 success of the Inquiry's work and are expected to assist 24 you in the work of the Inquiry. We suggest, my Lady, 25 that assistance will be viewed through the multiple

7

1 in respect of the publication of information that may 2 tend to identify the babies, their parents and some who 3 gave evidence during the criminal trial. Accordingly, 4 the Inquiry legal team have applied ciphers and 5 redactions in respect of those whose names cannot be 6 published. There is also in force an order of the Court
 7 of Appeal, an order under section 4(2) of the Contempt 8 of Court Act 1981, prohibiting any reporting for the 9 time being of the appeal to avoid prejudicing the 10 retrial.

11 As you have already stated, my Lady, this Inquiry
 12 is bound by all of these existing orders, as is everyone 13 else, whether in this Inquiry room or elsewhere.

14 Material was first provided to the Inquiry by 15 Cheshire Police in the week of 20 November 2023, just 16 one month after the Inquiry was established. We are 17 grateful for their co-operation with the Inquiry. In 18 October 2023, the solicitor to the Inquiry, Mr Tim 19 Suter, met with around 18 organisations. These 20 included: the National Neonatal Research Database; the 21 Royal College of Nursing; the Royal College of 22 Paediatrics and Child Health; the NHS Cheshire and 23 Merseyside Integrated Care board; NHS England; the Care 24 Quality Commission; the Liverpool Women's Hospital; the 25 Nursing & Midwifery Council; the Parliamentary and

6

1 lenses of genuine engagement with the specific issues
 2 under investigation, of reflection and of transparency
 3 about errors that were made, and a demonstrable 4 willingness to effect change where it is required to 5 keep babies safe in hospital. We have invited all Core
 6 Participants to consider where changes are required 7 within their organisation and how they are implementing 8 those changes now.

9 There are some organisations and individuals who 10 were not granted Core Participant status, but they all 11 have relevant evidence to share with the Inquiry and 12 which will be of assistance to the Inquiry's work.

13 Within a few days of publication of the terms of 14 reference, the first letter making a request for 15 evidence, known as a Rule 9 request, was issued to the 16 Countess of Chester Hospital. Within a month, twenty 17 Rule 9 requests had been made. These initial requests 18 were to many of the organisations I have already 19 mentioned so as to obtain from them core materials and 20 a witness statement. Each organisation has been asked 21 to respond to specific requests about governance and 22 management, the care and safety of babies, specific 23 events at the Countess of Chester Hospital, and what 24 changes have been made, or should be made, following 25 those events.

8

1 By 10 January, the number of Rule 9 requests
2 issued to organisations totalled 35 and included further 3 organisations such as the Hospital Consultants and 4 Specialists Association, the British Medical 5 Association, neonatal charities, Cheshire West and 6 Chester Council, Healthwatch England, the British 7 Association of Perinatal Medicine, and two organisations
8 representing whistle-blowers. The Hospital Consultants
9 and Specialists Association was contacted by the Inquiry
10 about its survey of 500 members concerning patient 11 safety issues which was undertaken for a documentary 12 broadcast on ITV in November last year.

13 It is right to pause at this point and record the 14 assistance the Inquiry has derived from some excellent 15 work by members of the press and broadcast media. There
16 have been documentaries broadcast on BBC and ITV, 17 newspaper articles and reviews in professional journals 18 and podcasts, one of which has been listened to by 19 millions of people. Some of these touch upon or overlap 20 with Part B and Part C of the Inquiry's terms of 21 reference. A number have provided important insight 22 that has helped our work, and we have identified some 23 witnesses based on the information within those 24 articles, broadcasts and podcasts.

25 In respect of Part C of the Inquiry's terms of 9

1 A few nurses, midwives and doctors received
2 questionnaires to complete. The vast majority, however,
3 were sent a pack of documents alongside Rule 9 requests.
4 The pack, which is bespoke to each witness, usually 5 contains any previous statements made by the witness and 6 every document referred to in the Rule 9 request. So
7 far, questions have been asked about more than 4,000
8 documents. We acknowledge that many of the Rule 9
9 requests are searching, sometimes probing. They require 10 a detailed response. The provision of witness packs and 11 related documents will have significantly reduced the 12 burden in the preparation of statements in response.
13 Fewer than 15 of the identified Part B witnesses are yet 14 to receive Rule 9 letters. This includes some for whom 15 contact details are awaited and all efforts will be made 16 to ensure we contact those individuals, including the 17 use of tracing agents if necessary.

18 We expect to receive most of the witness
19 statements in response to the Inquiry Rule 9s by the end 20 of next month. In an email sent to Core Participants on 21 30 April, we provided a table with details of the first 22 37 questionnaires and witness statements received in 23 response to these Rule 9 letters. We have committed to 24 providing regular updates as further statements are 25 received and disclosed.

11

1 reference, we have received or requested more than 85
2 statements. The majority of Rule 9s, however, have been 3 issued in respect of Part B witnesses. 188 requests
4 have been made to individuals in the following groups;
5 midwives, nurses, doctors, managers, former board 6 members and non-executive directors, and, finally, those 7 involved in external reviews conducted by the Royal 8 College of Paediatrics and Child Health, the Care
9 Quality Commission, former coroners and coronial staff,
10 and medical staff at other hospitals. These Rule 9 11 requests have been issued since 2 February and the 12 majority were sent out by the end of April.

13 To prepare a detailed Rule 9 request requires 14 a review of hundreds, and sometimes thousands, of pages 15 of materials and a necessary focus on the key issues.
16 Detailed questions have been asked about involvement in 17 the care of particular babies, suspicions and concerns
18 about Letby, the mortality rate and the safety of babies 19 on the neonatal unit, investigations into the increased 20 mortality rate, and other related issues. Questions are 21 asked about why suspicions were not reported to the 22 police sooner, how the grievance procedure was handled, 23 and what the board members were doing. The questions 24 run into the hundreds. We are looking for candid and 25 reflective evidence to be provided in response.

1 Expert evidence. Core Participants were informed
2 on 11 December last year that the Inquiry intended to 3 instruct two experts in relation to Part C of the 4 Inquiry's terms of reference. Draft letters of 5 instruction were provided to them with an opportunity 6 for observations or input. The final letters of 7 instruction were issued in early January this year and 8 the two instructed experts within Part C are Professor 9 Mary Dixon-Woods and Sir Robert Francis, King's Counsel.

10 Professor Mary Dixon-Woods is the director of this 11 institute and the Health Foundation Professor of 12 Healthcare Improvement Studies in the Department of 13 Public Health and Primary Care at the University of 14 Cambridge. Professor Dixon-Woods is instructed to 15 report on cultural issues in the NHS, in particular what 16 represents a healthy culture, her views on safety issues 17 and expected standards for openness, transparency and 18 candour.

19 Sir Robert Francis, King's Counsel, is a barrister 20 and expert in medical law. Sir Robert, of course, was 21 the Chair of the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust 22 Public Inquiry and has been involved in several 23 investigations and inquiries into NHS care and patient 24 safety. Sir Robert's instructions relate to, amongst 25 other things, the implementation of recommendations made

1 by previous reviews and inquiries into NHS patient care.

2 Their final reports are expected to be received by 3 June and will be made available to Core Participants as 4 soon as possible thereafter. The Inquiry also intends 5 to instruct Professor John Bowers, King's Counsel,
6 distinguished employment lawyer and author, a Principal 7 of Brasenose College Oxford. A proposed letter of 8 instruction to Professor Bowers surrounding the whistle
9 blowing, disciplinary and grievance procedures in place
10 at the hospital will be circulated to Core Participants 11 for comment before the end of May.

12 In your video statement in November, my Lady, you 13 stated that you wished to know what recommendations were 14 made in previous NHS inquiries and whether they were 15 implemented. You asked what difference did the 16 recommendations make? At the commencement of the 17 Inquiry, and in response to question 28 appended to the 18 terms of reference, the Inquiry legal team began to 19 prepare a table to reflect the level of implementation 20 of recommendations made by previous inquiries. This was 21 a huge piece of work involving a review of every major 22 inquiry into healthcare in England and Wales in the last 23 30 years, the recommendations made and whether, as far 24 as we are able to ascertain from our public research, 25 the recommendations have been implemented.

1 is to obtain information about governance and 2 accountability, policies, staffing and cultural issues,
3 working relationships between and across professionals, 4 the reporting and managing of concerns, support for 5 bereavement, and current practice and procedures in 6 neonatal units to keep babies safe.

7 Every trust completed and returned the 8 questionnaire with supporting materials. The Nuffield 9 Trust has assisted the Inquiry team by reviewing and 10 analysing responses and, on 3 May, all Core Participants 11 received the Nuffield's report.

12 The Inquiry has also issued a staff survey to 13 those who work within or in connection with neonatal 14 units in the NHS. The survey were issued to relevant 15 staff working in 121 NHS Trusts by the charity Picker 16 between 4 March and 8 April this year. The purpose of 17 the survey is to obtain views on the working 18 relationships between professionals in the neonatal 19 units, including senior managers, and to receive views
20 about the culture of each unit. More than 7,500
21 responses were received. Core Participants will shortly 22 receive Picker's analysis of the themes from the survey.
23 Together with the Nuffield report and questionnaires, 24 this evidence should help the Inquiry and Core 25 Participants to understand current issues in neonatal

1 The Inquiry table was shared with all Core
2 Participants on 2 February this year and we are grateful 3 for the feedback received, particularly from the 4 Department of Health and Social Care. We have also met 5 with the Health and Social Care Select Committee of the 6 House of Commons who have been investigating the 7 implementation of recommendations by a number of 8 previous public inquiries and we have shared our work 9 with them. The Inquiry table provides a comprehensive 10 summary and will be available for review on the 11 Inquiry's website from today.

12 We hope it will assist all Core Participants and 13 the wider public to understand what has and has not been 14 addressed following previous inquiries. What did all 15 those inquiries achieve? Where does accountability lie 16 where recommendations were not implemented? My Lady, 17 these are some of the issues to which the Inquiry will 18 return during the oral hearings.

19 As my Lady also said in November, a detailed 20 questionnaire was issued in the autumn of 2023 on behalf 21 of the Inquiry to hospitals in England with a neonatal 22 unit, save for the Countess of Chester. The 23 questionnaire was issued with a request that it should 24 be completed by both the medical director and a senior 25 non-clinical manager. The purpose of the questionnaire

14

1 care which are relevant when identifying the best ways
2 to keep babies safe in hospital.

3 May I turn now to disclosure. Disclosure to Core 4 Participants has been taking place in tranches of 5 documents from material providers and when the review
6 processes and sensitivity checks have been completed.
7 To date, 92,000 pages of disclosure have been provided
8 to all Core Participants. The work to review, redact, 9 cipher and disclose materials is resource-intensive. We 10 must take particular care to ensure that materials are 11 disclosed on the basis that they are ready for use in 12 the hearings, including ciphering of names that are 13 protected by the court orders I mentioned earlier.

14 The volume of disclosure received in the five 15 months this year and the regular updates and 16 explanations about specific materials should reassure 17 everyone that the process is very much underway. We 18 know, as in any large disclosure exercise, that Core 19 Participants will be keen to ensure that they receive 20 materials in time for the oral hearings. On Monday of 21 this week, Core Participants received an outline and 22 timetable for the disclosure that it is anticipated will 23 be provided over the next few months. That outline does 24 not take into consideration unfiltered material very 25 recently provided by the Countess of Chester. I say

1 unfiltered because it is currently unclear how much of 2 the documentation provided by the hospital has already 3 been received by the Inquiry or how relevant the 4 material is to the terms of reference.

5 Managing and reviewing the recent material is 6 a matter of priority for everyone and Mr Kennedy, KC, 7 and I will be discussing this further tomorrow. It is 8 likely further questions will need to be sent to some of 9 the existing Rule 9 recipients and updating those 10 Rule 9s will be prioritised by the Inquiry counsel team.

11 The hearings and core bundle. The Inquiry legal 12 team is building a set of essential documents in a core 13 electronic bundle for the use of Core Participants and 14 their advocates when preparing for the oral hearing.
15 This core bundle with its detailed index should be 16 available in the first week of June. A chronology
17 prepared by the Inquiry legal team will follow shortly 18 after that. By the end of the oral hearings, Core 19 Participants will have been invited to agree or add to 20 the chronology and to highlight any factual matters they 21 say remain in dispute.

22 In your opening statement made on November 22, my 23 Lady, you indicated that you would wish to begin hearing
24 the evidence this autumn. The Inquiry Secretary and her 25 team have been working hard to secure a venue for the

1 so.

2 The Inquiry is already aware that some parents do
3 wish to give written and oral evidence. I will work 4 with each of them and their lawyers to support them to 5 provide that evidence and, my Lady, I will invite you in 6 due course to consider specific and individual special 7 measures as requested by each individual parent.

8 Evidence of the parents and the pen portraits of 9 their children will provide our focus. In the unlikely 10 event that there are any submissions to be made by any 11 other Core Participants or the media in respect of 12 a parent's evidence and the manner in which it is 13 proposed to be given, we suggest that those submissions 14 are made in writing to my Lady and that there should not 15 be a need for any oral hearing in respect of the special 16 measures as applied to them. We hope that special 17 measures for the parents can be agreed and determined by 18 my Lady by the end of June.

19 By the end of June, the Inquiry intends to provide 20 Core Participants with a provisional list of witnesses 21 to be called. My understanding from discussions with 22 other counsel is that Core Participant witnesses are 23 expecting to give oral evidence where required to do so.
24 My Lady, you may wish to invite observations from Core 25 Participants on our provisional witness list and before

1 oral hearings. After a wide-ranging search, it was not 2 possible to find a suitable venue in Chester. The 3 Inquiry has very recently secured the use of the Town 4 Hall in Liverpool for the hearings this autumn. We are 5 extremely grateful to the people of Liverpool, to the 6 City Council and Lord Mayor for generously making the 7 space available to us and for working to assist the 8 Inquiry.

9 The Inquiry will commence substantive evidential
10 hearings on Tuesday, 10 September 2024, thereafter
11 sitting Monday to Thursdays and taking a half-term break
12 in October. During the first week, it is the intention 13 of the Inquiry team opening and any opening statements 14 from Core Participants will be heard. My Lady, after 15 today's hearing, we will invite you to make a direction 16 setting a timetable for the service of written opening 17 statements and any guidance you may wish to give Core 18 Participants in respect of their oral statements.

19 During the week of 16 September, we seek to move 20 on to the substantive evidence to be heard within 21 Part A. The evidence of the parents will be heard at 22 the beginning of the Inquiry. Unlike the recipients of 23 all other Rule 9s, we have made it clear that no parent
24 is required to provide a statement. The parents need 25 only share their experiences as far as they wish to do

1 it is finalised. Inevitably, a few of the witnesses 2 will be identified as our work continues, but it is 3 important to scope the nature and extent of the hearings 4 where we can.

5 Whilst the counsel team will broadly aim to call
6 evidence in the oral hearings investigating Parts A, B 7 and C in sequence, some witness evidence takes in 8 questions posed within Parts B and C and some who 9 address Part C alone might usefully be interposed 10 immediately after Part A. The order of witnesses will 11 be kept under constant review. We will publish hearing 12 timetables on the website so that the media and the 13 public are aware of the evidence that will be heard. We 14 will, of course, consult with Core Participant teams in 15 respect of witness lists before then.

16 Where reporting restrictions have been made in 17 respect of any individual pursuant to sections 45 and 46 18 of the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act 1999, the 19 Inquiry cannot publish those names and will use ciphers 20 referring to the persons concerned during oral evidence.
21 In the case of any other witness or person concerned in 22 the Inquiry, if special measures, including anonymity, 23 are sought in respect of their evidence, applications 24 for a section 19 order will need to be made. Where any 25 such application is made, and I say nothing about that

20

1 at this stage, the Inquiry will notify the media so that 2 written submissions can be made in the first instance.
3 I am aware, my Lady, that you would be able to 4 accommodate an oral hearing about special measures, in 5 the event one proves necessary, in August and well 6 before the oral evidence begins.

7 On 24 April, a document was sent to all Core
8 Participants explaining how you intend to apply Rule 10 9 of the Inquiry Rules 2006. Rather than prohibit, in 10 accordance with the general principle, questioning by 11 any advocate other than counsel to the Inquiry, your 12 document sets out a process whereby some limited 13 questions by Core Participant advocates will be 14 considered in respect of some witnesses. My Lady, you 15 have made it clear that you expect counsel for the 16 Inquiry to manage the Rule 10 process insofar as it is 17 possible to do so and that you will keep the protocol 18 under review as the hearing progresses.

19 Finally, my Lady, and with the assistance of 20 Mr Greg Callus of counsel, the Inquiry legal team have 21 provided written submissions on the intersection of your 22 duties under section 18 of the Inquiries Act 2005 with 23 the Crown Court reporting restrictions orders already 24 made. My Lady, you have received submissions from 25 a number of Core Participants and the media on this

21

1 refer to them as the Group 1 families.

2 LADY THIRLWALL: Very well. Thank you.

3 MR SKELTON: My Lady, I anticipate there's no need to repeat 4 all the points made in the Group 1 families' written 5 submissions. You have read them and most of the salient
6 points have been summarised by Ms Langdale in her 7 written submissions in advance of today.

8 The key point to emphasise, with which 9 I understand there's no disagreement, is that the 10 families will need access to a live video feed that has 11 the facility to be paused and played back so that they 12 can view the proceedings remotely, either in immediate 13 time or at a time and pace of their own choosing.

14 LADY THIRLWALL: Yes and that's certainly my understanding.
15 I know enquiries were made to establish what was 16 possible and that was one of the things. That 17 combination, we understand, is possible.

18 MR SKELTON: I'm grateful. The principal point of 19 contention, therefore, is whether there should or 20 shouldn't be or cannot be a live public broadcast of the 21 witness evidence as argued for by the Countess of 22 Chester Hospital NHS Foundation Trust and by your own 23 counsel.

24 Turning first to the arguments advanced by the 25 hospital, the starting point, my Lady, for the

1 point, including how the oral evidence should be 2 transmitted. We have provided written submissions in 3 response.

4 Given the Crown Court orders which are in place
5 and the need to avoid breach of those orders, we submit 6 that the oral evidence should be shared with Core 7 Participants and the press over live link without any 8 time delay and subject to undertakings, and members of 9 the public should be able to attend the hearings in 10 person.

11 The Inquiry team consider that this will meet the 12 requirements in respect of section 18 of the Inquiries 13 Act 2005. Furthermore, where the parents are unable to 14 view the evidence at the time that it is given, they 15 should be able to view a recording of that evidence as 16 requested.

17 My Lady, that concludes our update.

18 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you very much indeed, Ms Langdale.

19 We will now move into submissions from other parties in 20 relation to live links and live streaming.

21 Submissions by MR SKELTON

22 MR SKELTON: My Lady, I am Peter Skelton. I represent the 23 Families with Mr Sharghy of Children A, B, I, L, M, N
24 and Q and I am instructed by Switalskis and Irwin 25 Mitchell. Taking your counsel's lead, if I may, I will

1 consideration of the issue of public broadcast is the 2 basic fact that the multiple murders and attempted 3 murders of babies committed by Lucy Letby are some of 4 the most heinous and heart-rending crimes ever committed 5 in the UK. That is why this is a public inquiry, not a 6 private inquiry or internal investigation. The public 7 need to see and to hear directly from the staff of the 8 hospital, its nursing staff, its doctors, its 9 administrators, managers and board members as to how and 10 why these appalling events happened. That process needs 11 to occur in public because public understanding and 12 public accountability are a vital part of the process.

13 LADY THIRLWALL: Just pause there, Mr Skelton. Just so 14 there's no misunderstanding, the Inquiry is going to be 15 in public.

16 MR SKELTON: Yes.

17 LADY THIRLWALL: The question of broadcasting is a separate 18 thing.

19 MR SKELTON: It is, my Lady, but it will be in public in one 20 building in one city in the UK which most people in the 21 public will not be able to attend.

22 LADY THIRLWALL: So do you say that's not then in public?

23 MR SKELTON: Well, it is. It complies with the Act. That 24 is clearly correct. It's sufficient to comply with the 25 Act in that people can theoretically attend if they wish

24

1 to. The arguments, I think, on behalf of the families
2 is that isn't sufficient for a public inquiry of this 3 nature and needs to go further for reasons of good 4 principle. And those reasons I won't repeat. They are 5 eloquently articulated by Mr Bunting in his written 6 submissions and I anticipate he will be address you on 7 them in detail orally on behalf of the media 8 organisations.

9 Madam, in the modern era, the objective of a 10 public hearing is facilitated and fulfilled by 11 technology. That of course doesn't occur routinely in 12 the court system but it does occur routinely in the 13 public inquiry system, and it allows anyone to watch 14 public inquiry proceedings online and to see and hear 15 the witnesses, give their evidence at or shortly after 16 they do so and all of us, or some of us in this room, 17 will have seen that happening in some of the inquiries, 18 the Covid Inquiry and the Post Office Inquiry, which are 19 going on at the moment.

20 The modern age, my Lady, has also brought 21 a proliferation of conspiracy theories which sprout, 22 spread and fester on social media blogs and on websites 23 and Lucy Letby's crimes, in particular, continue to be 24 the subject of such conspiracies, some of which are 25 grossly offensive and distressing for the families of

1 evidence. They won't be able to judge the credibility
2 of the evidence. They won't take the time to look at 3 the evidence. Online, evidence or facts are often 4 shared by way of video clips, by way of references to 5 websites which contain shots of video and so on and so 6 forth. If that video isn't available and all you can 7 refer to is a transcript produced by lawyers at the end
8 of a hearing, that simply isn't going to be the antidote
9 needed. It doesn't function in that way. People don't 10 take the time to read a 100-page transcript in the same 11 way that they will take the time to look at an important 12 clip of particular evidence that bears upon a conspiracy 13 theory.

14 My Lady, that is the secondary point. The primary 15 point is this is a public inquiry and the public will 16 attend online. That is the primary submission.
17 Conspiracy theory eradication is a secondary submission.

18 LADY THIRLWALL: I understand.

19 MR SKELTON: The upshot of this, my Lady, is that the Group 20 1 families, and the other families that will advocate to 21 you today, say that there must be a live broadcast 22 unless there really are compelling reasons as to why 23 that's not possible or lawful.

24 My Lady, the hospital submits to you that if its 25 staff give evidence in a live broadcast there is a real

1 her victims, just as similar theories harmed the 2 grieving families of school shootings in the 3 United States.

4 My Lady, one of the most effective antidotes to 5 those theories and the damage that they cause will be to 6 see and to hear the people involved in these crimes or 7 involved in the hospital to give a true and 8 comprehensive account of the facts, as occurs in almost 9 all other public inquiries. A documentary written 10 archive of their evidence is simply not good enough.
11 Few people, other than lawyers and the media, will take 12 the time to actually read it.

13 LADY THIRLWALL: Can you just develop that a little bit? So 14 we understand about conspiracy theories, most of which 15 are online. So just explain a little bit more how this 16 would be -- it's an interesting submission -- an 17 effective antidote.

18 MR SKELTON: As I understand it, your counsel's proposal is 19 that the default position will be that there will be no 20 publicly available broadcast.

21 LADY THIRLWALL: Don't worry about what everyone else is 22 submitting. Just help me about how this would be an 23 effective antidote.

24 MR SKELTON: People won't be able to see the witness give 25 evidence. They won't be able to hear the witness give

26

1 risk that they may be less inclined to speak frankly and 2 with candour. That is, with respect, an extraordinary 3 submission to make for several reasons. First, all the 4 staff working at the hospital are public servants. They 5 have a moral obligation to give a true and complete 6 account to the families and to you and to the public for 7 what has happened to the babies that they were 8 duty-bound to care for and to protect and may, in some 9 instances, have failed to protect.

10 Second, this is a statutory public inquiry. The 11 hospital staff have a legal obligation to tell you the 12 complete, unvarnished truth about what happened.

13 Third, they have both a legal and a professional 14 duty of candour to the families and to the public. My 15 Lady, that latter duty is particularly important given 16 the history of what happened at the time of Lucy Letby's 17 crimes, whereby families were not told of the growing 18 suspicions on the part of senior medical staff that she 19 may have killed their or other people's children, with 20 the result that some of them were left with false 21 beliefs about their children's deaths or injuries or, in 22 some cases, were denied the opportunity to take their 23 children to other hospitals because they were under the 24 terrible misapprehension that the Countess of Chester 25 Hospital was safe.

28

1 My Lady, it will of course be stressful, and 2 sometimes distressing, for hospital staff to give 3 evidence to this Inquiry in a live public transmission, 4 but that stress, with respect, is wholly outweighed by 5 the two other factors I have identified.

6 LADY THIRLWALL: Can I just ask you whether you think -- 7 you're accepting that it's stressful and distressing to 8 give evidence in a live public broadcast; is it more or 9 less or different from giving it when it's being live 10 linked and people are in the room? I'm just interested 11 in your view about that.

12 MR SKELTON: My Lady, my preliminary view when reading those 13 submissions was actually the main stress is attending 14 and being in this kind of room. This is stressful to 15 give legal submissions, let alone give evidence. It 16 will be a similar type of room, I anticipate. You and 17 your counsel and legal team will be in the same 18 position, there will be several ranks of lawyers, public 19 journalists. That is inherently very stressful. The 20 extra bit of knowing that a public broadcast is 21 available on YouTube or some archive, it is difficult to 22 see how that tips the balance. The stress is really 23 attending.

24 My Lady, there may be circumstances in which 25 a broadcast would in fact prevent a particular witness

29

1 MR SKELTON: It is. My Lady, I'm going to come on to the 2 fact that it shouldn't be insurmountable.

3 LADY THIRLWALL: All right. So you are going to make 4 submissions on that. Take it in your own order.

5 MR SKELTON: The families don't accept, without a much
6 clearer and detailed explanation, your counsel's view 7 that it will be impossible to maintain compliance with 8 the orders if the hearings are broadcast with a delay 9 of, say, 15 minutes or even up to an hour or so. In the 10 Undercover Policing Inquiry, for example, evidence is 11 given by police witnesses in circumstances where the 12 Chair has made multiple restriction orders to protect 13 the identities and the lives, indeed, of many witnesses 14 and other people and to protect sensitive information on 15 the part of the government and the police.

16 During the hearings, warnings are repeatedly given 17 about the need to comply with the existing restriction 18 orders and a team of police officers and lawyers, not 19 just the Inquiry's legal team, monitor the evidence 20 closely in real time so that they can immediately 21 identify the release of protected information and seek 22 restriction orders preventing its publication.

23 My Lady, this is an inherently pressurised
24 process, but it occurs effectively within a 15-minute 25 window and where a restriction order is made, the

31

1 from telling the whole truth. You will be aware of that 2 from your time on the Bench, that there are special 3 measures that can and need to be taken, and you have the 4 powers under the Act to make restriction orders and you
5 have at your discretion and power to make practical 6 measures to prevent and minimise the stress on witnesses 7 in certain circumstances.

8 There may also be a small number of cases where 9 a broadcast of the evidence would in fact cause a 10 witness or their families to suffer significant harm 11 that cannot be managed by other practical measures or 12 restriction orders. But those instances will be rare 13 and they shouldn't be the rule. The rule should be 14 public broadcast and the exception should be that 15 a particular broadcast should be not publicly available.

16 My Lady, both the Countess of Chester Hospital and 17 your counsel emphasised the need to comply and maintain 18 the anonymity orders made in the Crown Court and you 19 yourself have emphasised that today. It is, of course, 20 an important point and it will undoubtedly place 21 a significant logistical burden on your legal team who 22 will need to impose restrictions on evidence and monitor 23 the release of potentially identifying information.

24 LADY THIRLWALL: That's quite a big logistical exercise, 25 isn't it?

1 relevant parts of the hearing are never publicly
2 broadcast. It's difficult to see, my Lady, why this 3 can't occur as a matter of practicality in this Inquiry
4 where the stakes are far less fraught and the index
5 information much easier to spot. You will no doubt be 6 warning everyone attending the hearings each day about 7 the need for compliance with the Crown Court orders.

8 Further, many of your witnesses will be giving 9 evidence about matters where the nature of the 10 identifying or potentially identifying information will 11 be readily recognisable in advance, or it will be 12 confined to particular stretches of their testimony that 13 can be prepared for in advance so that they are more 14 closely monitored.

15 My Lady, importantly it should also be borne in 16 mind that your legal team are not alone in wanting to 17 preserve the identities of the people who are the 18 subject of the Crown Court's orders. The 19 representatives of the families and of the hospital 20 itself are also committed to doing so and throughout the 21 hearings they will also be actively alert to the 22 disclosure of any information that could potentially 23 breach the Crown Court's orders. In other words, there 24 will be an immense amount of scrutiny brought to bear on 25 the live evidence as it is happening and it is difficult

32

1 to see how that level of scrutiny, together with 2 a reasonable period of delay, will not be sufficient in 3 all the circumstances.

4 In summary, my Lady, the Group 1 families strongly 5 submit that the default position should be to have 6 a delayed public broadcast, and it will then be open to 7 you on application or at your own discretion to adopt
8 a different approach in respect of particular witnesses
9 where the risks may be high or too high to be manageable 10 or particular parts of their testimony too high to be 11 manageable if you are persuaded that that is the case 12 and that there is a real risk of improper disclosure in 13 that instance.

14 My Lady, those are my submissions on the principal 15 point. As you indicated in your opening remarks, the 16 focus of today's hearing is on the video broadcast of 17 the oral hearings, but you will be aware of the 18 families' concern as to how much work there is to be 19 done before the September hearings and the substantive 20 hearings are due to start. It is, of course, recognised 21 that you and your team are working extremely hard but 22 you appreciate that the families' representatives will 23 need to catch up very rapidly if they are to participate 24 fully and effectively at those hearings. The more 25 compressed the timetable, the higher the volume of 33

1 whether at the Countess of Chester Hospital or 2 elsewhere, it must be called out.

3 Lessons must be learned. As the US Chief Justice
4 Brandeis said in 1913: "Sunlight is said to be the best 5 disinfectant." This is why the families must be at the 6 heart of all the work the Inquiry does. In Part B, in 7 our respectful submission, the starting point must be 8 that all witnesses who have relevant evidence to give 9 must be called. All relevant documents must be 10 disclosed subject to redactions as appropriate. There 11 must be as full a public scrutiny as possible of the 12 Inquiry hearings. We appreciate that a balance needs to 13 be struck consistent with the orders made in the Crown 14 Court, about the need to secure the attendance of all 15 relevant witnesses. There must be transparency.

16 In our respectful submission, as is set out in our 17 submission which I won't repeat, we agree with 18 Mr Skelton that the starting point should be that public 19 presence at the hearing should be able to have access to 20 its proceedings, that any derogation from that would 21 need to be justified. And for your note, my Lady, if 22 I may, please, our position on this is set out in our 23 written submissions at paragraphs 25 in your bundle, 24 page 19.

25 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you.

35

1 documentary and witness evidence to consider at short 2 notice, the more intense the degree of support that the 3 families will need so that they can understand and cope 4 with what will be an extremely difficult and distressing 5 process for them.

6 As Ms Langdale indicated, a further and final 7 preliminary hearing may be necessary if major issues
8 arise that require submissions and resolution by you 9 before September, and that indication is gratefully 10 received.

11 Unless I can assist you further.

12 LADY THIRLWALL: No. Thank you very much indeed, 13 Mr Skelton. Mr Browne.

14 Submissions by MR BROWNE

15 MR BROWNE: My Lady, as you know, I appear with Simon Driver
16 and Sara Sutherland on behalf of the parents of Baby D, 17 Baby J and Baby K. We're instructed by Sara Stanger of 18 Bond Turner and Elen Roberts of Gamlins. These parents 19 very much welcome the setting up of this Inquiry and 20 your appointment as Chair. They are confident that your 21 Inquiry will be full, thorough, searching and vigorous.
22 Parents want answers as to how it was that Letby was 23 able to commit the hideous and wicked crimes that she 24 did. Where fault of whatever type is identified, 25 whether it be individual, corporate or regulatory,

34

1 MR BROWNE: I don't propose to repeat those, but we 2 respectfully associate ourselves with Mr Skelton in that 3 regard.

4 There are certain other specific matters which 5 I wish to address you on shortly, if I may, please.

6 LADY THIRLWALL: In relation to this topic?

7 MR BROWNE: No, I'm going to move off this topic, unless you 8 think I can assist you further.

9 LADY THIRLWALL: Do you want to say anything about the 10 questions I asked Mr Skelton about the reduction of 11 conspiracy theories by reason for broadcasting?

12 MR BROWNE: The reason I mentioned Chief Justice Brandeis's 13 observations is it is clearly going to be of importance 14 that the public widely have confidence in the Inquiry.
15 Whilst the families are at the heart of the Inquiry, 16 this is a public inquiry and the public will be 17 interested in the proceedings and the balance has to be 18 struck -- I recognise that -- between ensuring the 19 preservation of the orders made by the Crown Court with 20 the need for public to access more widely. I don't 21 dispute for a moment that, as suggested by counsel to 22 the Inquiry, compliance with section 19 of the Act is 23 ensured by what is proposed by counsel to the Inquiry.
24 It is a true public inquiry. But, as put by Mr Skelton, 25 the question I think goes a little bit beyond that as to

1 what is going to be necessary to ensure that the 2 Inquiry's work is seen to be done, not just by those who 3 can be physically present at the location -- 4 LADY THIRLWALL: Or as through the press, who are usually 5 described as the eyes and ears of the public.
 6 MR BROWNE: They are and they will be present and no doubt 7 will report on matters that they consider to be of 8 importance and relevance. I recognise again that that 9 does provide the assurance of compliance with 10 section 18. But the point made by Mr Skelton, with 11 which we respectfully agree, is for your Inquiry to 12 deliver, if I might respectfully put it this way, to the 13 public to ensure that Letby's actions in the context in 14 which they occurred have been fully explored, the wider 15 public should have access to the proceedings as they go 16 on. But again I recognise there's a balance in that 17 regard. The balance and what happened is ensuring that 18 wider accountability, if I might put it that way, versus 19 the need to ensure the continued protection of the 20 identification of the parents of the babies and the need 21 to secure the attendance of key witnesses.
 22 But the starting point, in our respectful
 23 submission, should be that, as with most major public 24 inquiries in modern times, recent times, there is a link 25 provided so that members of the public can view in real

37

1 Paragraph 18, please, of our submissions at 2 page 18. This is the ability that we seek for the 3 parents to give evidence from a location remote from the 4 hearing room, and possibly in circumstances which are 5 accompanied by only those being present being my Lady,
 6 counsel to the Inquiry, the legal team for that family
 7 and Secretary to the Inquiry.
 8 LADY THIRLWALL: Yes, I have seen what you have set out
 9 there. Obviously there will be discussions, as counsel
 10 to the Inquiry has suggested, to see what can be worked 11 out without the need for a hearing about that. I would 12 imagine that there wouldn't be any great difficulty 13 about that.
 14 MR BROWNE: I am very grateful.
 15 LADY THIRLWALL: There's no need, certainly from my 16 perspective, for you to rehearse that. I have read what 17 you have to say and I understand your reasons for it.
 18 MR BROWNE: I mention it, my Lady, simply because it is 19 a matter of considerable importance to the family -- 20 LADY THIRLWALL: I quite understand.
 21 MR BROWNE: -- and they asked me specifically to mention it.
 22 LADY THIRLWALL: I assumed that was the case.
 23 MR BROWNE: The second point relates to a matter raised by 24 my learned friend Ms Langdale, King's counsel, in her 25 submission at 53(e), paragraph 18. This is the use of 39

1 time, subject to the 10 to 15-minute delay to cure any 2 inadvertent slips.
 3 LADY THIRLWALL: Just thinking a little bit more broadly of 4 broadcasts, obviously this would be to the world, not 5 just within the jurisdiction. So there would be no
 6 control, would there, about what was said about anything 7 that might be subject to court orders in the 8 United Kingdom?
 9 MR BROWNE: We recognise, of course, that that is a factor 10 that must be weighed in the balance that outside this 11 jurisdiction those orders, if I might put it this way, 12 don't bite and the risk of breach of court orders is 13 a risk. We recognise that. That's why we respectfully 14 acknowledge there is a balance to be struck. But, 15 interestingly, only this week there was a publication in 16 the New Yorker taken down but access to that is still 17 available and will be available in the UK in the course
 18 of the coming days, as I understand it.
 19 We can't eliminate those risks. They have to be 20 weighed in the balance, but our respectful submission is 21 the key factor is ensuring public confidence in your 22 Inquiry and that is best achieved by the provision of 23 a link subject to delays.
 24 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you. You have five minutes left.
 25 MR BROWNE: I will be less than that.

38

 2 LADY THIRLWALL: Yes.
 3 MR BROWNE: Of course, mobile phones mustn't be used to 4 record hearings or to take photographs or to take 5 videos, but mobile phones are important to the families
 6 because they will be a means of communicating with us
 7 during the course of the Inquiry hearings.
 8 LADY THIRLWALL: There will be no difficulty about that.
 9 MR BROWNE: I am very grateful. Thank you very much indeed.
 10 Finally, a matter again raised by my learned 11 friend also at page 53, paragraph 16, and this is the 12 use of screens. The point we make here, if I may, 13 please, is there's a difference between witnesses giving 14 evidence in criminal proceedings who have the benefit of 15 special measures and will be coming to a court that has 16 been emptied especially for that purpose, give their 17 evidence behind a screen and then leave when their 18 evidence is complete. In this particular instance, the 19 parents who give evidence may well want to come into the 20 Inquiry room in due course. So we simply make the point 21 that there needs to be a consideration as to the 22 configuration of the room for those purposes.
 23 LADY THIRLWALL: Of course. Thank you.
 24 MR BROWNE: My Lady, nothing further.
 25 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you very much indeed Mr Browne.

40

1 Submissions by MR BAKER

2 MR BAKER: My Lady, I appear on behalf of Child C, Children
3 E and F, Child G, Child H and Children O and P. I am 4 instructed alongside Mr Jamieson and Ms Rong by 5 Slater & Gordon, Oliver & Co and Harding Evans. We are 6 Group 3.

7 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you.

8 MR BAKER: The families whom I represent, and as are 9 represented by Mr Skelton and Mr Browne, have all 10 suffered unimaginable harm in unimaginable
11 circumstances. Their desire in this case is for change 12 so that others do not experience what they have 13 experienced. We recognise that their interests and 14 desires are at the core of this Inquiry and that the 15 need for their protection but also meeting their wishes 16 and desires are important issues, and that on occasion 17 it will be necessary to strike a balance.

18 I agree with Mr Skelton and Mr Browne that the 19 objective of a public hearing is met by providing access 20 to the public so that the public can hear that evidence.
21 That access may, of course, be limited to people in the 22 room and the fulfilment of the requirements of the Act
23 can be met by people in a room. But in the modern age, 24 it has become the norm for inquiries to be broadcast and 25 the greater public interest and greater public scrutiny

41

1 naming. There are three issues we say that are relevant
2 on this issue: protecting the anonymity orders, the best
3 evidence, and public perception into which falls 4 conspiracy theory. The families are probably the 5 largest group of individuals who receive benefit from 6 anonymity orders. There are others, of course, but the 7 majority are family members.

8 The potential risk of violation of the Crown Court 9 orders should be recognised as a risk, but it should not 10 be overstated. Similar orders were in place at the 11 Manchester Arena Inquiry where witnesses have given 12 evidence in preceding criminal proceedings and also 13 provided evidence to the Inquiry. It was perfectly 14 possible in that case to have a live broadcast of 15 evidence, albeit with a delay.

16 Similarly, in the Independent Inquiry into Child 17 Sexual Abuse, the need to protect the identity of the 18 Core Participant witnesses was at the heart of that 19 Inquiry too, but also it was managed again with a live 20 broadcast and a delay. As Mr Skelton pointed out, the 21 Undercover Policing Inquiry, where one doesn't need to 22 think hard to imagine the level of security and concern 23 that must exist around that inquiry, and even in that 24 case a live broadcast, albeit with a delay, was managed.

25 So we would say that whilst those risks exist,

1 to be applied through the broadcasting of evidence. We 2 would say any derogation from that norm must be clearly 3 justified in a particular case, and that any derogation
4 from that norm may also have unintended consequences
5 which I will speak about in a moment.

6 The families who I represent have all considered 7 the submissions made by counsel to the Inquiry and are 8 grateful for the recognition of the risk, of course, 9 that is created by live broadcast. But, despite that,
10 and having considered it carefully, they still give me 11 clear instructions in unambiguous terms that their 12 desire is for this Inquiry to be broadcast live albeit, 13 obviously, subject to a 15-minute delay. We would say 14 the Inquiry should give real weight to their wishes on 15 this issue, especially where it is given in 16 understanding of the risks that may apply.

17 LADY THIRLWALL: When you say understanding the risks that 18 may apply, what are you referring to?

19 MR BAKER: Of course the risks in relation to anonymity and 20 how that might be managed. There are three issues, 21 I would say.

22 LADY THIRLWALL: I don't want to pry, but I just want to 23 make sure I have understood what you are saying.

24 MR BAKER: Of course. It is in relation to the risk of 25 identification, jigsaw identification or inadvertent

42

1 they are manageable realistically and should not be 2 overstated.

3 Likewise, where there is a realistic risk of 4 jigsaw identification, that risk is also identifiable 5 and manageable through a combination of delay in 6 broadcast and your power to make individual restriction 7 orders where necessary. We would say for both of those 8 risks it is not necessary to introduce a broad, 9 potentially draconian, restriction on broadcasting where 10 that brings about other consequences -- I will come on 11 to those in a moment -- where that risk can be managed.

12 In relation to best evidence, those whom 13 I represent expect everybody who gives evidence before 14 the Inquiry should do so openly and truthfully. Against 15 a background of their experiences and the harm caused to 16 them, transparency is an essential component of change 17 and one of the fundamental desires that they have is 18 that the same experiences are not visited upon other 19 people in the future. They are saddened and concerned 20 by the suggestion that a lack of transparency may 21 continue.

22 The suggestion, whether implicit or explicit in 23 the submissions on behalf of the Countess of Chester 24 Hospital, that witnesses may not give a full account of 25 their evidence if it is broadcast should not find favour

44

1 with this Inquiry. The same arguments could equally 2 have applied in other inquiries and, again, have not 3 been used as a means of applying a prohibition on live 4 broadcasting.

5 We say the correct approach is that identified by 6 Mr Bunting, and evidenced and supported in his 7 submissions, that public scrutiny will encourage rather 8 than discourage candour and honest reflection. If 9 witnesses seek to respond to scrutiny by dissembling, 10 they will be exposed by the process whether it is live 11 broadcast or not, and the truth will emerge despite 12 them, rather than with their aide.

13 Any witness willing to act in a way should be 14 exposed, but any witness who is not prepared to be fully 15 honest and candid with this Inquiry again should be the 16 subject of public scrutiny.

17 Finally in relation to public perception, it is 18 well known that the case has generated considerable 19 public interest and that conspiracy theories have grown 20 around it. Those have distressed considerably those 21 individuals whom I represent. They are toxic, they are 22 often ill-informed, and they ultimately grow in the 23 shadows. We say that conspiracy theory in any case is 24 a peculiar and toxic weed that grows in shadows and the 25 more light that we put on this Inquiry, the less space

45

1 at the bottom of the pile. I think it's important to 2 recognise that they exist and their effect is having 3 a toxic impact upon those whom I represent.

4 LADY THIRLWALL: Yes. I was just thinking about that.

5 Assuming there were live broadcasts in the way that you 6 submit, there would, I suppose, be the opportunity for 7 people across the world to make clips of parts of the 8 evidence and then subject it to some sort of commentary 9 and the Inquiry would have no control over that.

10 MR BAKER: The Inquiry would have no control over that, but 11 nor would the Inquiry have any control about individuals 12 who wanted to extract text from evidence that was given, 13 who wanted to misquote what text was given, to describe 14 the demeanour of witnesses in the witness box in 15 a misleading way. That element of conspiracy theory 16 can't be removed because people will always do it.

17 If the images are there, if the video is there for 18 people to see with their own eyes, they can exercise 19 judgment about what they see. The public perception of 20 what evidence is given and how it comes across is based 21 upon what happened in the witness box, what people said
22 and what they did. It isn't based upon third-hand 23 accounts which may be derived from misquoted extracts, 24 second-hand quotes from the media, or indeed misquoted 25 extracts from the text of the Inquiry. Individuals can

47

1 there is for speculation and conspiracy.

2 There is also, my Lady, an important point in 3 this: going back to my earlier submission, if there is 4 an expectation that it is the norm that inquiries are 5 live broadcast and if we remove that norm, if we depart 6 from it, we hand a message to conspiracy theorists that 7 there is something different about this case and that 8 there is something to be hidden. That in of itself, we 9 say, risks generating and populating conspiracy
10 theories.

11 Now, of course, conspiracy theorists may speculate 12 based upon on full transparency or no transparency, but 13 one thing can be assured is if we show a lack of 14 transparency, they will seize upon that and use it as 15 a tool to beat us with. We would say that the removal 16 of the live broadcast will hand to conspiracy theorists 17 a sense that there is hidden information and it will 18 lead to increased speculation and worsen those theories, 19 those theories which --

20 LADY THIRLWALL: It's slightly curious, and again just 21 reflecting on that, that the process and procedures of 22 a public inquiry should be affected by conspiracy 23 theorists who, as you say, are toxic and ill-informed.

24 MR BAKER: Yes. In terms of the priority of submissions, 25 the three that I have made puts the conspiracy theorists

1 see with their own eyes what happened. That's an 2 important point.

3 The second important point is that a conspiracy 4 theorist will generate additional conspiracy from the 5 idea that this Inquiry is having special restrictions 6 applied to it. They will point to other inquiries and 7 say, "It is the norm for it to be live broadcast. Why 8 isn't it live broadcast in this case? It is because 9 there is something to hide". Now, that is not the truth 10 of course.

11 LADY THIRLWALL: No. Again, I think one should be quite 12 careful about saying, "It's the norm, it's the norm".
13 It's happened in a number of inquiries, not all 14 inquiries. It's interesting that you are adopting that 15 phrase which you are then attributing to the conspiracy 16 theorists.

17 MR BAKER: Of inquiries of this magnitude and importance, it 18 is difficult to think of many recent public inquiries in 19 the modern age where there has not been live 20 broadcasting of the evidence that is being given. Of 21 course, that may not be the case for every public 22 inquiry, but the ones that the public will know about, 23 the ones that they will see on the television and they 24 will access themselves, all of those important inquiries 25 are the subject of live broadcasting. Again, it's an

48

1 important message then because if they can be broadcast, 2 even in the case of the Manchester Arena or the 3 Undercover Policing Inquiry with all the issues that may 4 attach to those in terms of sensitivity, then the public
5 will ask, "Why can't this one be broadcast?"

6 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you. You said you would adopt what 7 Mr Skelton said about the practicalities. Is there 8 anything you want to add to that, given the position of 9 counsel to the Inquiry?

10 MR BAKER: No. I think providing that the live stream can 11 be provided to Core Participants without a delay, then 12 that will enable those I represent (who, in some cases, 13 are caring for seriously injured children and in other 14 cases have already taken a huge amount of time away from 15 work) to attend the criminal trial --

16 LADY THIRLWALL: A live link whatever happens.

17 MR BAKER: They will be able to attend remotely. 2.

18 LADY THIRLWALL: Yes, of course.

19 MR BAKER: But the live link to them is important because 20 the point Mr Browne made, of course, is that they will 21 need to send us instructions possibly via --

22 LADY THIRLWALL: There's no question about that. That is 23 going to happen.

24 MR BAKER: In terms of one point made by Ms Langdale was the 25 idea that the press may be able to make application to

49

1 be achieved by the use of live links controlled by the 2 Inquiry. We therefore endorse the approach taken by 3 counsel to the Inquiry and her proposals. What this 4 would achieve is it would permit the public and the 5 media, and I repeat, my Lady, as you have repeated, the 6 observation about the media being the eyes and ears of 7 the general public. The live linking of a public 8 hearing would permit appropriate levels of access for 9 the public and the media.

10 We suggest that for the reasons which I've set 11 out -- and I'm just going to, if I may, highlight two -- 12 that the access should be short of live streaming 13 worldwide (in other words, option C that you canvassed 14 in your note), as I say, for two principal reasons.

15 First, you will have seen that to inform our 16 submissions we canvassed the views of members of staff 17 and former members of staff of the hospital who have 18 received Rule 9 notices to gauge what the feeling was.
19 That has indicated a high level of anxiety I accept 20 initially at the prospect of giving evidence but, more 21 particularly, at the prospect of giving evidence which 22 is live streamed.

23 LADY THIRLWALL: Can you deal with what Mr Skelton said 24 about that, which is the really hard thing is to give 25 evidence at all in this sort of arena and that the

51

1 broadcast or show aspects of evidence that was given by 2 the live link. Now, of course, that undoes some 3 problems. It allows witness evidence to be broadcast in 4 a way, but it also risks that evidence being filleted.

5 The problem, of course, is that if that evidence is 6 presented in gobbets, then the danger is that that may 7 be in of itself misinterpreted. We say the entirety of 8 the evidence should be broadcast. Unless I can assist 9 you further.

10 LADY THIRLWALL: No. Thank you very much indeed, Mr Baker.
11 Bang on 15 minutes.

Submissions by MR KENNEDY

13 MR KENNEDY: My Lady, my name is Andrew Kennedy. I appear 14 with Thomas Hayes instructed by Emma Stockwell at Hill
15 Dickinson on behalf of the Countess of Chester Hospital.

16 My Lady, can I start as I started in our written 17 submissions, which some may not have seen, just by 18 indicating the profound sorrow and regret for the events
19 which are the subject of your Inquiry, and to reiterate 20 our determination to work with you and provide as much 21 assistance as we can for you to achieve the objectives 22 set by your terms of reference.

23 I turn then to the issue at hand. I start from 24 the proposition that the Trust is committed to the 25 principle of Open Justice. What we say is that this can

50

1 additional element of live streaming is relatively 2 minor. I don't know if you want to say anything about 3 that.

4 MR KENNEDY: I was proposing to deal with it, so thank you.

5 What I would say is this, that the process of giving 6 evidence (so the requirement to attend and give oral 7 evidence in front of a room of lawyers and media), that 8 is something which, to a certain extent, those 9 representing the witnesses can manage, they can prepare 10 witnesses for and, if needs be, a witness might be able 11 to observe part of the hearing, just to familiarise 12 themselves with the process and the environment.

13 The concern clearly indicated to us is that if it 14 is transmitted around the world, people fear more -- 15 they are more anxious, they find the prospect more 16 stressful. It seems to us that there's some force in 17 that -- I don't put it too highly -- but some force in 18 that because people have seen what has happened in other 19 inquiries, so the clipping of material from YouTube or 20 from live broadcast. Whether that has engendered an 21 inappropriate level of anxiety, it appears to have 22 engendered a level of anxiety.

23 So in answer to Mr Skelton, I would say we can 24 prepare for the rigours of giving evidence. What we 25 can't really deal with is the fact that it is being

52

1 transmitted around the world.

2 LADY THIRLWALL: Are you going to deal with what's been said
3 about what Mr Skelton said about candour?

4 MR KENNEDY: I am going to come to that, yes. I believe 5 it's helpful if I deal with it now. I acknowledge, 6 looking at it now, and listening particularly to 7 Mr Skelton, that we perhaps could and should have put 8 matters the other way round, that our desire, and no 9 doubt the Inquiry's desire, is for witnesses to be able 10 to speak frankly and with candour, and anything that can 11 be done to facilitate that should be done. So if 12 a witness is concerned about live streaming, then if we 13 can remove that concern, we can, we would suggest, 14 encourage candour, frankness and openness. So 15 I acknowledge the point he makes and, with the benefit 16 of hindsight, we should have put matters the other way 17 round.

18 If I can just come back just briefly to the 19 concerns, just so that I can just -- perhaps if I make 20 good the point I make. The concerns appear to us to be 21 based really on two factors. Firstly is past experience 22 arising from the trial. So people are anxious because 23 of experience from the trial. That has been fed by 24 contact from the news media and contact on social media.

25 Secondly, one has to acknowledge that the majority

53

1 breadth of the orders in this case, it seems to us, 2 places the Inquiry in a somewhat different position to 3 other inquiries. There is, it seems to us, a 4 significant risk of breach whether by inadvertence, as 5 it's put in one submission, blurring out or by, as it's 6 put, jigsaw identification.

7 I hear what my learned friend, Mr Skelton, I think 8 said about an army of people in the Policing Inquiry 9 overseeing evidence, but you too will be concerned to 10 ensure no breach. It seems to us it's crucial that your 11 focus and counsel's focus is on the evidence, rather 12 than being concerned about the implications of what is 13 being said, particularly trying to wrestle with the 14 concept of jigsaw identification: does A lead to B lead 15 to a breach of the order? So it seems to us that that 16 concern is rightly put at the forefront of counsel to 17 the Inquiry's submissions and we endorse what she says 18 about that.

19 Where that leaves us, as we said in paragraph 12, 20 is that a live link, as we put it, controlled by the 21 Inquiry but effectively, as counsel to the Inquiry puts 22 it in her note, is the solution on the particular facts
23 of this Inquiry. So, my Lady, that is all I would say 24 in terms of live streaming unless there's anything I can 25 assist you with.

55

1 of those who are expressing concerns are members of 2 staff at the hospital or former members of staff at the 3 hospital whose roles do not normally equip them for the 4 rigours of giving public testimony. As I say, we will 5 have to address that and we will have to deal with that.

6 LADY THIRLWALL: That's often the case for witnesses of fact 7 in criminal or civil trials.

8 MR KENNEDY: It is, but not under the glare of the worldwide
9 media or the worldwide observer. So it's a more 10 controlled, if I can put it, environment.

11 The concern it gives us is whether that will allow 12 you to achieve or obtain the best evidence. I take on 13 board the point that my learned friend Mr Bunting, 14 King's Counsel, makes about publicity avoiding -- or 15 a public hearing avoiding blame-shifting or 16 exaggeration, but we will be a public hearing. The 17 issue is the discrete one of live streaming.

18 So what we submit is that the proposal that your 19 counsel makes, and that we would endorse, at best 20 strikes the balance between material being publicly 21 available and you securing the best evidence to reach 22 appropriate conclusions.

23 The second concern we have is that which is set 24 out by counsel to the Inquiry in her note. It concerns 25 the breach of the reporting restriction orders. The

54

1 I was just going to, if I may, adopt also what my 2 learned friend Ms Langdale, King's Counsel, says about 3 the approach to documentary evidence. That's not 4 something we addressed in our note, but that is an 5 approach that is adopted in other inquiries and we see 6 there is no reason for you not to adopt it in this 7 Inquiry.

8 My Lady, I haven't dealt with the question that 9 has been raised by some of conspiracy theorists. I can 10 give you the benefit of my thoughts on that if it 11 assists.

12 LADY THIRLWALL: Feel free to do so briefly.

13 MR KENNEDY: We would just say this: the concern is people 14 clipping sections of live-streamed material. It was 15 said by my learned friend Mr Baker, King's Counsel, that 16 that may be done by the media, but Mr Bunting will tell 17 you that the media will act within the restriction 18 orders. So the concern would be that if material is 19 clipped from a YouTube broadcast, you, as you have said, 20 have no control over how it is done and the potential 21 for information to be put out in a way that is 22 misleading is enormous. That feeds for the conspiracy 23 theorists. That is the way for them to promulgate their 24 theories.

25 The suggestion that people can still do it from

56

1 transcripts (in other words, Mr Baker's observation), it
 2 conflicts with how Mr Skelton put it and it seems to us
 3 it also conflicts with what we know about how people now 4 consume their news, which is they are consuming it
 5 online. That provides some answer to the concern 6 expressed about people doing the same but based on 7 a transcript.

8 So, my Lady, those were our observations on 9 conspiracy theorists.

10 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you. Are those your submissions?

11 MR KENNEDY: They are my submissions.

12 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you very much. Mr Bunting.

13 Submissions by MR BUNTING

14 MR BUNTING: Good morning, my Lady. I now act on behalf of 15 nine media organisations. To the eight that are already 16 in my Lady's notes can be added Pressdram Limited, the 17 publisher of the Private Eye. My Lady will note that 18 the nine media organisations for whom I act make up all 19 of the main media organisations at a national and a 20 local level in terms of the print and the broadcast 21 media.

22 My Lady, the reason that these nine media
 23 organisations are so keen to assist the Inquiry is 24 because of the important public interest issues to which 25 this Inquiry gives rise. We respectfully agree with

57

1 respectfully endorse the suggestion made by your counsel 2 that members of the press should be permitted into the 3 hearing room and should be permitted to access a live 4 link. That is how we make sure we play the role that 5 you identified, my Lady, of being the eyes and ears of 6 the public.

7 Insofar as it was initially suggested by some Core
 8 Participants that the media should only have access to a 9 delayed broadcast, we respectfully suggest that there's 10 no real justification for that. The media organisations
 11 are responsible. They know the orders of the Crown 12 Court. Indeed, they played a role in the making of 13 those orders. They know the names to whom those orders 14 relate and they will comply with those orders, just as 15 they did throughout the criminal proceedings.

16 The second point is a much shorter one and it's 17 one which echoes, I think, a point made by Mr Browne.
 18 We would like to be in the rooms. We would like to be 19 able to fulfil our professional role but accredited 20 members of the press tell me to do so they will need 21 access to their mobile phones. They understand, of 22 course, that the Inquiry's concerned about the use of 23 telephones to broadcast the hearing. They won't do 24 that. They can be trusted to act lawfully and 25 responsibly in that regard. I would therefore be

59

1 you, my Lady: this Inquiry is profoundly important. It
 2 follows from the importance of those issues, my Lady, 3 that there is a concomitant need for openness and 4 transparency. Only by bringing these matters into the 5 light can the public be reassured that all proper 6 questions are being asked and that all proper lessons
 7 have been learned. Their interest, my Lady, is not 8 prurient. The media organisations understand the 9 significant human tragedies that are at the heart of 10 this Inquiry. They do not seek to intrude on grief.
 11 What they do seek to do is to report in the public 12 interest on those important issues and to do so in the 13 same responsible way that they did at the criminal trial
 14 and at the appeal. We are grateful for the helpful 15 comments made by your counsel about the press reporting 16 today.

17 My Lady, I am going to make four short points 18 about streaming. The reasons our points are short is 19 because we broadly agree with the suggestions made by 20 your counsel in their helpful note, and so my points are 21 largely points of practical finessing rather than 22 a principal taking on the issues.

23 The first issue is there is a need to ensure that 24 we, as members of the press, are able to follow these 25 proceedings live and contemporaneously. That's why we

58

1 grateful if the Inquiry permit them to do so.

2 LADY THIRLWALL: Mr Bunting, I can say there's no difficulty
 3 about that.

4 MR BUNTING: I am very grateful.

5 The third practical point that we make is as 6 regards accessing material and the related points using 7 any clips from the live stream. Realistically, our 8 concern with this is that the note says that we would be 9 provided with material at the end of the day. The note 10 suggests that there will need to be a process so as to 11 enable people to apply for permission to use the 12 live stream. The problem that we have is that 13 journalists work to deadlines. Those deadlines can 14 include the 6 o'clock news, for example, or deadlines
 15 for print publication. Therefore, we propose to work 16 closely with your team, my Lady, to ensure that the 17 logistics of how those practical matters can be 18 addressed can be properly finessed. If there is 19 a procedure in place, that will enable us to use that 20 material quickly. It will also enable us to avoid 21 repeatedly interrupting my Lady throughout the hearings 22 on this case.

23 My Lady has heard well-argued submissions from 24 Mr Skelton, Mr Browne and Mr Baker in favour of 25 broadcasting and there's much in what they say with

60

1 which we agree. In particular, we agree that greater 2 transparency will improve the Inquiry's investigative 3 process. Like Mr Skelton, we also respectfully disagree 4 that the concerns of public servants about giving 5 evidence on a live stream should not be a decisive 6 factor in the balance about the use of footage.
7 Openness improves rather than undermines the quality of 8 evidence from public servants. All of that is clear 9 from the Divisional Court's judgment in Wagstaff to 10 which we brought my Lady's attention.

11 We also specifically agreed greater openness can 12 be an antidote to ill-informed speculation and rumours.
13 My Lady, these are not just matters of submissions, they 14 are matters of parity. We have drawn attention to two 15 cases which touch upon this point in our written 16 submissions. The first is the Azelle Rodney case in 17 which it was said that openness can avoid the impression 18 of a cover-up. That's footnote 7 on page 45. The 19 second is the judgment of the Master of the Rolls, 20 Lord Woolf in Kaim Todner in which he explained the 21 purpose of Open Justice includes making uninformed and 22 inaccurate comment about the proceedings less likely.
23 That's footnote 6 on page 45.

24 My Lady, we hope to assist the victims. We hope 25 to assist the families in this regard, even if my Lady

61

1 order is already in place, in particular, as regards
2 some of the medical evidence in respect of whom 3 Mr Justice Goss made orders. These are, as your counsel
4 noted in their note, fact-sensitive matters in respect
5 of which we would hope to assist you as the summer 6 continues.

7 My Lady, those are the four points that I seek to 8 make. We hope to work closely with your team so as to 9 ensure openness is a reality in the substantive 10 hearings. Unless I can assist you any further, those 11 are the submissions of the media organisations.

12 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you very much indeed, Mr Bunting.

13 Ms Langdale, would you like to say anything about 14 any of the submissions we have just heard?

15 MS LANGDALE: Just two matters, my Lady.

16 Firstly, clearly, the essential issue for my Lady 17 is whether this should be live streamed or live linked.
18 If my Lady accepts the submissions, in fact it now 19 appears that the Countess of Chester, the media and 20 ourselves as counsel to the Inquiry that it should be 21 a live link, there would need to be further discussion
22 about the practicalities and logistics involved. I'm 23 not going to go into a response in relation to any of 24 those because, of course, my Lady hasn't made a decision 25 yet.

63

1 rules against their request for a full broadcast. My 2 Lady may consider that permitting the public to access 3 clips of the evidence through the media acting 4 responsibly will assist in ensuring that the family get 5 what they want, namely public access to the evidence, 6 but will do so in a responsible way. That's what we 7 hope to do throughout this Inquiry, not by live
8 streaming every moment of the Inquiry but by responsibly 9 using clips in news coverage. That's why we hope that 10 the practicalities and logistics of how we can obtain my 11 Lady's permission to do so can be finessed in discussion 12 with your team.

13 My Lady, the fourth point is as regards any future
14 application for special measures or restriction orders.
15 We have listened with care to what Ms Langdale, King's 16 Counsel, has said this morning and we respectfully agree 17 that those are matters that ought to be properly 18 addressed through further submissions. We note the 19 deadline in June for the special measures application in 20 respect of the families and the suggestion of a further 21 hearing later in the summer if and when that is 22 necessary.

23 We also specifically agree with your counsel that 24 there may be a need for the Inquiry to consider whether 25 a restriction order is needed, even where an anonymity

1 As far as the families' position is concerned, 2 lest it is not clear from the documentation I referred 3 to today, we say very clearly of course Open Justice is 4 important. Transparency is important. The public at 5 large will have access to transcripts of evidence upon 6 the conclusion of that day's evidence or as soon as 7 practicable thereafter where there is much to be 8 redacted because, of course, as Mr Kennedy suggests, it 9 is the jigsaw identification as ordinary people giving 10 evidence referring to colleagues that have those 11 anonymity or other potential identification ciphers
12 applied to them, that is where the difficulty will lie 13 in redacting at the end of the day. But all of the 14 evidence and the transcript will be made available and 15 so will the documents that are referred to. So it's 16 very much an interested informed member of the public 17 can follow and see the evidence.

18 The question for us really, and where we land as 19 counsel to the Inquiry, is the significance of the 20 orders. The orders have to be complied with. Every 21 inquiry is different. All of us in this room have 22 managed inquiries, as counsel to the Inquiry or as Core 23 Participants, where ciphers have been successfully 24 applied with a short delay. This Inquiry we know will 25 have international interest. We know the reporting has

64

1 extended internationally and the families' submissions
 2 don't directly address where there is reporting abroad
 3 from newspaper outlets or organisations registered
 4 abroad, what power does the Inquiry have at all to deal 5 with breaches of those reporting restrictions orders.
 6 That is a matter of concern for us because they are 7 there to be complied with. They are in place at the 8 moment. They are there to be complied with.

9 So, my Lady, nothing further than that.
 10 LADY THIRLWALL: Thank you very much indeed, Ms Langdale.

11 As I said at the beginning of this morning's 12 proceedings, I will consider the helpful submissions 13 that have been made by counsel, in addition to the 14 written submissions that I have received from them and 15 from others. And will then give my decision in due 16 course.

17 You all now heard what has been happening since 18 November and you will have observed quite the volume of 19 work and considerable effort that has been required to 20 get through so much work. I acknowledge immediately 21 that everyone who is instructed in this case for Core 22 Participants has a very large amount of work to do and 23 that's where the focus of course now has to turn once 24 I've made my decision in respect of this particular 25 matter. I'm grateful for what's been done so far and

1 I know that I can rely on each of you to ensure that 2 every effort is made so that progress can be made so 3 that we can begin in September.

4 It's worth just remembering for a moment it is 5 highly unlikely, and I think it would be a first for any 6 inquiry, if all the evidence was ready before we 7 started. This isn't a trial. Evidence comes out during 8 the course of an inquiry. I know that the teams, which 9 are significant, are well equipped to deal with that 10 given the necessary focus.

11 So renewed thanks for what you are about to do and 12 I look forward to seeing you all probably in August but 13 certainly in September. Thank you all very much.
 14 I will rise now.
