Dear colleagues,

I was redeployed from the Unit in July 2016 following serious and distressing allegations of a personal and professional nature made by some members of the medical team. From then until now I have been unable to visit or contact the Unit whilst these matters were investigated.

After a thorough investigation it was established that all the allegations were unfounded and untrue and I have therefore been fully exonerated. I have received a full apology from the Trust but as you can imagine this whole episode has been extremely distressing for me and my family. I will begin my return to the Unit in the coming weeks. I will need colleagues to be sensitive and supportive at this time.

Many thanks

Lucy Letby
